

THE MACHADO CASE.

THE SUPREME COURT RENDERS ITS DECISION.

The Defendant Must Serve Out Her Sentence and Pay the Heavy Fine Imposed.

The Supreme Court handed down a decision this morning in the case of the Provisional Government vs. Theresa P. Machado, convicted in the Circuit Court of larceny and sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment and $400 fine.

The opinion is written by Justice Bickerton and the points decided are:

"Where there is evidence to justify and support a verdict, it will not be set aside, and

"It is not error for a court to take notice of and censure a person for leaving the court-room and communicating to witnesses waiting outside, the censure being made in good faith and not likely to prejudice the jury against the defendant."

In its decision the Court says: "This matter comes here on a duly allowed bill of exceptions from the Circuit Court of the First Circuit, May term, 1893. The defendant was charged with larceny and the jury rendered a verdict of guilty. The defendant excepted to the verdict as being contrary to the law and the evidence, and moved for a new trial. The motion was overruled and an exception taken and allowed to the ruling."

The defendant's counsel claims that this is only a case of suspicion, but after a fair consideration of the evidence adduced, we are of opinion that it is a case of very strong circumstantial evidence. The evidence for the prosecution, as to the nature of the coin stolen, and that found in a place where it had been secreted by the defendant, the actions of the defendant during the day on which the coin was stolen, her conduct when the officers were searching her house, and after they left her great anxiety to hide this money in another place, which coin she had secreted behind a picture in her house and which had not been discovered by the officers in her search, her first hiding it under her house, and shortly after moving it to a place under the steps of another house which was unoccupied; and when the coin was afterwards discovered, she not protesting against its being taken, or even claiming it at the Station House, all point strongly to her guilt. We might go on indefinitely setting out points of evidence bearing on her guilt. In the defendant's own testimony she positively denies facts which were clearly established by the witnesses for the prosecution. In many regards her evidence, in our opinion, tends more to strengthen the case for the prosecution than to weaken it. The verdict is well sustained by the evidence, and we therefore decline to disturb it on these grounds.

The other exception, in regard to the Court censuring Mr. Correa for leaving the courtroom during the time a witness was being examined and talking with the witnesses outside is also discussed at great length and overruled.

The effect of this decision is that Mrs. Machado has to serve out the sentence of the lower court, and she has been already sent on the reef.

IN AN ARTESIAN WELL.

Fragments of a Great Shell Found at a Depth of 375 Feet.

L. L. McCandless, who came in from Ewa this morning, brought with him some fragments of shell imbedded in cemented coral mud taken from the artesian well now being bored by him near the mill, from a depth of 375 feet. The fragments, which can be seen at Bishop & Co.'s bank, have been examined by Prof. Lyons, S. E. Bishop and others well up in conchology, and identified as belonging to a specimen of the helmet conch so common to these Islands. The material in which the portions of shell are imbedded is a hard cement, almost as hard as the shell itself, evidently formed by a mixture of coral pulverized by the grinding process of the ocean with clay washed from the mountains. The find should be interesting from a geological point of view, as shedding some light upon a much-mooted question, viz., the geological period of the formation of these Islands. There are some forty specimens of well detritus in all, weighing three or four pounds, of which only a small portion is shell material. One specimen is of a reddish tint, the balance being white. Future discoveries of the same kind may be looked for as further boring progresses.

THE BANNING CASE.

A Decision is Rendered by Judge Cooper This Morning.

In accordance with conclusions arrived at from the evidence taken in the Banning estate matter, Judge Cooper has made the following order:

"In accordance with the foregoing conclusion, the order approving the accounts of W. F. Allen, cancelling his bond and discharging him as the administrator of this estate, made on the 15th day of February, 1893, is hereby revoked and set aside, and the administrator is ordered to file his accounts for approval as of that date within fifteen days. In making his returns the administrator may credit himself with the amount of money and securities covered by the receipt of B. R. Banning on file in this case."

The party will sail through the lagoon and take the cars for the Ewa plantation and mill, returning by rail this evening.

THE KOOLAU EXPEDITION.

J. O. CARTER DISCLAIMS THE RESPONSIBILITY.

But the Attorney-General Brings Out Some Interesting Facts in Regard to It.

During the session of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon J. O. Carter called the attention of the members to a recent editorial in the STAR in which it was asserted that the responsibility of giving Stolz authority to arrest the lepers of the Kalaupapa valley was due to the persistent urging of a prominent royalist on the board, and that Attorney-General Smith had been opposed to the proposition at all times. In the course of his remarks Mr. Carter showed that he thought the STAR cap fitted his brow, for he seemed to take the matter as a personal one, and perhaps thinking that the Attorney-General was the author of the extract referred to, proceeded to charge him with the responsibility of the whole Kalaupapa disaster, claiming that it was caused by the action of the Provisional Government and the Attorney-General in particular. In reply the latter said that it was well-known to the Board that he had persistently opposed the applications of Mr. Stolz and that whatever action he had taken in relation to the expedition had been merely as an executive officer of this Government; that the whole matter originated in the action of the Board in first granting the request of Stolz; that if such action had not been taken, Stolz would not have gone to Kalaupapa and got killed.

Mr. Carter then repeated his assertions in rather an excited manner and wound up by saying that he did not propose to be made the scapegoat of the Board, and putting on his hat, bounded out of the room. He left a broad grin on the face of his colleagues.

A CANADIAN OPINION.

The Late Y. M. C. A. Secretary Talks About Annexation.

Rev. H. W. Peck, B. A., of Honolulu, who is in the city en route to Toronto, was interviewed yesterday by a Columbian representative regarding the state of affairs in the Hawaiian Islands. Mr. Peck has been a resident of Honolulu for five years, three years of which he has been employed in connection with the educational department of the kingdom. Latterly he has been acting as general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

"I am a Canadian and not an American," said Mr. Peck, "and look at the revolution from a perfectly independent point of view. I am in strong sympathy with the movement which overthrew the monarchy. It was not an American nor yet a planter's movement which precipitated the revolution, but a general movement of the whites, irrespective of nationality, whose business interests were jeopardized by a Government whose tendency was to retrograde. You have had the whole particulars of the trouble, but there was one point concealed from the Government of the United States. Had the marines not been landed from the war ship Boston, the revolution would not have taken place when it did, but it was bound to have come later. I believe the revolution was justified in the best interests of all parties; for the advancement of civilization and the moral welfare of the natives."

"The whites control seven-eighths of the property of the Islands, and contribute at least that proportion of the revenue. They were confident that the Queen's new Constitution meant to deprive them of privileges already enjoyed, and throw the management of affairs largely into the hands of the natives. We appealed to the United States for annexation, because 90 per cent. of the trade of the Islands went there. If the United States will not annex Hawaii, we will probably appeal to England or to some other foreign power. There can be no going back, no retrogression, no monarchy. Hawaii is the key to the Pacific, and if the United States do not want it, other powers will not be so backward in profiting by so grand an opportunity."

Rev. Mr. Peck speaks very highly of President Dole and the members of the Provisional Government, and says they are all good, conscientious men. These men have the best interests of the natives at heart, and are at the head of every educational and other movement tending to better their condition.

Mr. Peck leaves for Toronto to-morrow, accompanied by his wife.—Vancouver Columbian.

Music in the Air.

Lovers of music in the neighborhood of Beretania street and the hotel certainly got enough of it last night. The Admiral's band gave a concert at the hotel, the Hawaiian band another one at Queen Emma Hall and a Portuguese band at the Catholic Church grounds was sandwiched in between the two. The St. Andrew's Cathedral choir and organ also added their quota.

Appointed Hawaiian Consul.

A. M. Beattie has received notice of his appointment as Hawaiian consul for Vancouver. The appointment comes from the Provisional Government and is signed by Sanford B. Dole as President. Mr. Beattie is going extensively into the purchase of Hawaiian fruits and other products, and with T. W. Harvey on the ground to do the buying, he is in a position to obtain the best goods, personally selected at the lowest price, and also to have the packing and shipping superintended. He disposed of a lot of his importations this time in Victoria and the Sound cities, but local merchants have preferred to buy from an outsider.—Vancouver World.

The Stolz Benefit To-night.

There should be a great attendance this evening at the benefit to be given by the widow of Deputy Sheriff Stolz, murdered by the leper Koolau. The affair will take place at the Opera House and will consist of music in a variety of forms. Tickets on sale at Levey's.

Presbyterian's Secret Conclave.

NEW YORK, July 4.—An important secret conclave of bolting Presbyterians was held in this city on June 29th to protest against the action of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the suspension of Dr. Briggs. The meeting was large, and was composed entirely of supporters of and sympathizers with Dr. Briggs and advocates of his policy and tenets. All information of the meeting and its purposes was carefully kept from the outside public, both before and since the meeting, until yesterday, when a reporter learned that such a conference had been held. Many clergymen from other cities in this State, and some from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Rhode Island were present. Dr. Francis Brown and Dr. Thomas S. Hastings, both of the Union Theological Seminary in this city, were present at the meeting. The attendants at the conclave were enjoined to strict secrecy regarding the meeting and its objects, but the reporter learned that some very vigorous protests were entered against the action of the General Assembly, which may result in a complete split in that body and a secession of no mean proportion from the ranks. It was resolved to take immediate steps to circulate a protest against the General Assembly's action in the Briggs matter, the protest to be signed by Presbyterians of the more advanced school all over the country. The reporter called on a number of clergymen who are known to have been present at the meeting, but all either feigned ignorance of it or refused absolutely to talk on the subject.

Will Suspend Annulment.

TOLEDO, July 6.—Seymour, the mind-reader, was in Toledo yesterday on his way to Chicago, where he is going to be buried alive, after the manner of the Indian magicians, who say they can suspend animation for any period by swallowing their tongues and controlling the heart and mind. "My coffin has gone ahead," said Mr. Seymour. "It's a fac simile of the one in which General Grant's remains now rest, and cost $3000. It is made in three sections, one fitting inside the other. I will be buried six feet deep in the coffin. Signals are to be arranged so that if things do not go right I can communicate with the soldiers on the outside who will guard the grave. Directly after I am buried a crop of barley will be sown over the grave. I will remain buried till the germs sprout, grow, ripen, and are harvested. Then the disinterment will take place. I won't come back to earth until September 24th. I am positive I can do it, and the scientific men who are assisting me are coming to think so too."

Thinks Christianity a Failure.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Abdullah Effendi, an Egyptian of rank, is in this city. He has a mission to propagate the Moslem faith in this country. He will assist ex-Consul Alexander Russell Webb in establishing colonies of Egyptians in the South and in building mosques in this and other cities. In an interview to-day he said: "Mohammedism is destined to be the religion of all intelligent people, and the time to spread the prophet's doctrine is ripe. Calm, earnest discussions will work wonders, for Christianity is evidently a failure. Christians are not sincere, but the Moslems are as devout now as they were in the days of Mohammed. In Europe the Moslem faith is making great strides, and in America progress not dreamed of by those who are unacquainted with the subject is rapid."

English Newspaper Men Knighted.

The usual list of titles bestowed on fortunate commoners in honor of her Majesty's birthday shows that a phenomenal proportion has fallen to gentlemen connected with the press. W. J. Ingram, Liberal member for Boston, and eldest surviving son of the founder of the Illustrated London News, is created a baronet. John Leng, editor and managing proprietor of the Dundee Advertiser, member for Dundee; Gilzean Reid, first president of the Institute of Journalists; J. R. Robins, editor of the London Daily News, the leading Liberal organ; E. R. Russell, editor of the Liverpool Post, and John Tenniel, the well-known artist of Punch, are all knighted. Dr. Charles Cameron, member for Glasgow, owner of the Glasgow Mail, and well known as the successful advocate of spongy telegrams, is made a baronet. Sir Hussay Vivian, Liberal member for Swansea, where a statue has been erected to him on account of his services in building up the place, is raised to a peerage. He is not connected with the press.
